SITUATION

Thornhill sits on the outskirts of Fettercairn, a small village in Aberdeenshire, northwest of Laurencekirk in Aberdeenshire on the B966 from Edzell. Fettercairn is also reached via the Cairn O' Mount Road from Deeside. The village's name loosely translates to the 'foot of the mountain'. Once visited by Queen Victoria, a memorial arch was erected in her honour in 1864. Fettercarin Distillery was founded in 1824 by Alexander Ramsey of the Fasque estate and it was later taken over by the Gladstone Family and in 1973 by White & Mckay who remain the current owners. Primary education and nursery services are provided in the village by Fettercairn Primary School. The school's catchment area includes the village and the surrounding rural area. Laurencekirk has a comprehensive range of facilities including a railway station with intercity travel. Mearns Academy serves most of the secondary school students in the area. There are lovely traditional parks at each end of the town, a modern health centre and dental practice, gyms, hairdressers and barbers, and a variety of eating establishments with a butcher, independent shops, and garages. Thornhill is also conveniently situated to both Brechin and Edzell in Angus, and just to the north of the A90 dual carriageway which is easily reached. This is an appealing and scenic area of countryside, with the Grampian hills and Angus Glens to the north. The property is ideally situated for those who wish to enjoy the range of outdoor pursuits offered in the area. The Angus glens also offer some of the best hill walking in eastern Scotland and skiing at Glenshee. Golf courses in the area include Edzell and Brechin, with the championship course at Carnoustie nearby. There are outstanding sandy beaches at Lunan Bay and St Cyrus. Brechin is well served by local shops, business and leisure facilities, nurseries and schooling. The nearby village of Edzell also has good local shopping including a butcher, post office, coffee shops, chemist and health centre, together with a country club within the Glenesk Hotel, and a renowned 18-hole golf course, along with a 9-hole course and driving range. Further afield, more extensive shopping and business services are found in Forfar, the county town, and Montrose. Private schooling is available in Aberdeen and locally at Lathallan (Johnshaven), which has a dedicated bus service from Brechin, as has the High School of Dundee.

The nearby A90 provides fast access to Aberdeen and south to Dundee which are both easily reached and offer all the services expected of major cities. Aberdeen and Dundee have renowned cultural facilities and there are railway stations at Montrose and Laurencekirk. Journey times to Aberdeen and Aberdeen Airport have been much reduced by the AWPR (Aberdeen western peripheral route) and Aberdeen Airport provides a range of domestic and European flights. Aberdeen Airport is easily accessed and is around 36 miles from Thornhill.

DESCRIPTION

An attractive and substantial stone-built, slate-roofed family home with an original build date of around circa 1850s. Surrounded by mature garden grounds Thornhill has spacious and well-proportioned accommodation and a lovely combination of period features with modern fixtures and fittings. Gates open onto a drive that leads up to gravelled parking at the side of the house.

Both the entrance vestibule and hallway are light and welcoming, with the hallway having a carpeted staircase to the first floor. There are two imposing front reception rooms. The sitting room features traditional ceiling coving, high skirting, sash and case windows and a wood burning stove. The formal dining room is an equally generously proportioned room, with ample space for a variety of free-standing furniture. An inner hallway benefits from a small study room and a well-appointed shower room. The family room is a comfortable and inviting public room with a multi-fuel stove, tiled fireplace and wooden mantel above. A glazed panel door leads through to the exquisite conservatory from where the gardens can be fully enjoyed from every angle and reached via French doors. A large dining kitchen has been fitted with a contemporary range of wall and base mounted units. A large Aga cooker is a lovely addition to the kitchen and gives a traditional feel to the room. Fully fitted with integrated appliances the kitchen has central space for a large dining table and chairs as desired. Leading off from the kitchen a rear vestibule with back door access is a convenient boot room, with large utility space and walk in pantry cupboard.

Upstairs is a sizeable landing which gives access to a wealth of versatile accommodation. There are three good sized double bedrooms, all featuring tasteful décor and views over the gardens and countryside beyond. A single bedroom could be utilised as a study or dressing room as desired, and the master bedroom is complete with a range of fitted wardrobes and is well served by an immaculate en-suite shower room. A family bathroom is well placed to service all the bedrooms.

The subjects benefit from an oil fired central heating system serving steel panelled radiators. The boiler is located within the ground floor showerroom cupboard. Domestic hot water is provided via this system and supplemented via the thermal store located within a first floor bedroom cupboard. In addition, we understand that solar panels supplement the property's hot water supply. All relevant documentation in respect of this should be obtained.
