SITUATION

The Southwest of Scotland is well known for its mild climate, and abundance of recreational and leisure activities in unspoilt and incredibly varied countryside and beaches.

Kirkcudbright, a historic harbour town on Scotland's Solway Coast, boasts a rich history dating back to the 7th century and its fishing harbour is still a healthily active one. A colony of artists settled in Kirkcudbright from the 1850 who were particularly drawn to its beautiful coastal light, landscapes local architecture and harbour, gaining the title of Scotland's Artists' Town which is still representative today. Kirkcudbright has a 18 hole golf course. Kirkcudbright is renowned for its proactive community, with a busy schedule of popular festivities, events and entertainment through the year.

Peaceful river, bay and woodland walks can be made from the properties doorstep. The property is also in the very heart of the town. Within 5-10 minutes walk of the property, you can reach almost all of the amenities on offer; from a popular marina, tennis courts, gym, bowling green, supermarket, independently run shops, cafes, delicatessen, art galleries, wine bar, pubs, and restaurants.

A huge variety of spectacular sandy or rocky beaches are just 10-20 mins drive away. In addition to sailing on the Solway, there are water sports at Loch Ken, hillwalking and a nationally renowned network of mountain biking routes. The Galloway Forest represents the areas lack of light pollution and extraordinary night skies and has been recognised as Britains first Dark Sky Park.

The nearby market town of Castle Douglas has a range of shop and services and is known as Scotland's Food Town. In the other direction is Wigtown, Scotland's Book Town. The regional capital of Dumfries 27 miles away has an even broader range of shops, retail outlets and services.

Communications to the area are very good - Glasgow and Edinburgh (each with airports) are almost equidistant approx 2 -2.5 hours drive. There are railway stations at Dumfries and Lockerbie which have very good connections up and down the UK - and London is as little as just over 4 hours away.

DESCRIPTION

Once a Merchants house, the property has real stature occupying a prominent position, in the heart of Kirkcudbright since the 1860's with views to the harbour, Barhill Wood to the rear and, to the front the Soaperie Gardens. After the last six decades of serving the town as a solicitor's office, an architect and a curator have rightfully returned 13 St Mary Street to its original townhouse splendour.

The sympathetically renovated 3 storey townhouse, is now a stunning home with a contemporary feel, ideal for more modern family living. The historic features of the properties have all been preserved, which include; grand high ceilings, feature fireplaces and ornate cornicing. The large sash and case windows flood the house with light throughout the day, from the south from above the woodlands in the morning across the garden, the town in the afternoon, till the sun sets at the harbour.

The space over three floors is totally flexible, allowing for a multitude of configurations of layouts and individual room use to suit the specific needs each homeowner. 13 St Mary Street has functioned as a family home, a gallery and events space, and currently as a holiday home.

The top floor, made up of 5 rooms, with views of the harbour through the tops of the trees, has a kitchen / utility and bathroom and independent heating system.

The first floor is presented as 3 bedrooms, one with large contemporary ensuite/shower room, a family bathroom, and a study overlooking the Soaperie Gardens and through to the harbour.

The ground floor, in the form of four generous reception spaces, currently provides the primary living space. The sitting room opens to the kitchen space, bespoke island and fitted kitchen units complement the space perfectly, with integrated induction hob and downdraft extractor together with an integrated fridge freezer, electric oven and black sink with mixer tap.

From the kitchen, the connecting garden room leads directly to the large south facing garden. There is a well used decked seating and dining area, as the garden is a sun-trap throughout the day

The garden connects to Mews Lane at the back of the house with bin/bike store and space for parking.
